Jane Coop

pianist

Tuesday, October 19, 1982

Walter Hall, 8 p.m.

Jane Coop received an Artist Diploma from this Faculty in 1971.

Hailed by critics, she is recognized as one of Canada's leading classical pianists. For the past several seasons, she has travelled extensively throughout North America performing with major orchestras and chamber ensembles. Miss Coop has given début recitals at Wigmore Hall in London, St. Lawrence Centre Town Hall in Toronto, in Washington, D.C. and, most recently, at Carnegie Recital Hall in New York. She is much in demand as a chamber musician; in addition to the Shaw Festival, she has participated in festivals in Parry Sound, Guelph, Ottawa, Victoria and at Harvard University, where she performed with the Harvard Chamber Players.

Last season, Jane Coop gave solo recitals across Canada, including performances at the Pleiades Theatre, Calgary and Pollack Hall, Montréal. She performed in Columbia, Maryland, in the CBC Victoria Festival and at Wilfrid Laurier and Mount Allison Universities. She was guest soloist in Mozart's Concerto No. 25 in C Major, K503 with the Toronto and Saskatoon Symphonies, and in Beethoven's Concerto #4 in Thunder Bay.

During the 1982/83 season, Jane Coop performs Bartok's Concerto #3 with the Kitchener-Waterloo Symphony and Mozart's Concerto in E-flat, K449 with the CJRT Orchestra and Victoria Symphony. Her schedule also includes several solo recitals across the country.

Jane Coop combines her concert career with her position as Professor of Piano in the Department of Music, University of British Columbia.
